Graduate Medical Education Report – Dr. Chuck Carter

Announcements: Residency/Fellowship expansion proposals remain on hold by Prisma Health executive leadership, and positions are presently frozen at the current number of trainees as of July 1, 2024. State level advocacy is ongoing with DHHS.

The Midlands GME division remains without an office location on the clinical campus after leaving the former 15 MP location, and a permanent relocation is undetermined at this point.

Residents from the core USCSOM clinical rotation departments will participate in the LCME site visit in February 2025.

Fellowship matches have concluded for this interview season and the categorical programs are wrapping up interviews ahead of the upcoming NRMP main match. We hope to see an increase in SOM C students training at USCSOM C/Prisma Health for residency.

Continuous Professional Development & Strategic Affairs – Dr. Matt Orr

Strategic Plan: The SOMC Strategic Planning Steering Committee approved the one-year update to the 2023-2026 SOMC Strategic Plan, which will be presented for approval to this Executive Committee at this (January 2025) meeting.

Faculty Development Newsletter: The first two monthly editions of the “Compass” faculty development newsletter were distributed in November and December 2024. Please contact Dr. Morgan Rhodes, Director of Faculty Development (morgan.rhodes@uscmcd.edu) for more information or to discuss future editions.

CME Organization: We are collaborating with Dr. Alyson McGregor, Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs and Development at the SOM Greenville and the CME office at SOMG to propose a strategy for the University of South Carolina Schools of Medicine and Prisma Health and to unify their two separate Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME)-accredited CME programs (one in Columbia, one in Greenville) into a single accredited continuing education organization through Joint Accreditation for Interprofessional Continuing Education™. This initiative will streamline processes, enhance interprofessional collaboration, and align Continuing Education (CE) activities with Prisma Health’s and the SOM’s strategic goals for Continuous Professional Development (CPD) across all clinical disciplines. Achieving Joint Accreditation (JA) represents a transformative opportunity to better serve the educational needs of healthcare professionals while positioning the USC—Prisma Health partnership as a leader in interprofessional education and quality improvement.
